Dear Sirs,

In response to the letter from Madam Ong Boot Lian on page H9 Forum section of "The Straits Times" of 23 April entitled "Flaw in en-bloc mediation process", IF pursuit of an en bloc exercise is now causing such indecision-related stress to majority owners due to minority objectors exercising their legitimate right to defend their homes and lifestyle in the face of what is often sheer greed and exploitation, then why not put an immediate stop to this entire flawed, resource-wasting, environment-damaging, controversial and socially-divisive process and revert to an orthodox supply-and-demand property market situation?

Yours Faithfully,

Dennis Butler
